

THE WEATHER.
Silver, blue per ounce.
New York, $1.20 per ounce.
London, $2.50 per ounce.
Gold, $20.00 per ounce.
New York, $1.20 per ounce.

ESTABLISHED JUNE 6, 1870.

MAYOR CARTER HARRISON IS A FOUR-TIME CHICAGO DEMOCRAT

Chicago Democrats Also Elect the City Treasurer and Make Gain of Aldermen.

Emporia, Kan., Elects a Democratic Mayor for the First Time— Other Municipal Elections.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Carter H. Harrison was elected mayor of Chicago today for the fourth time, his majority by unofficial count over Graeme Stewart, the Republican candidate, being 6,949. The vote was: Harrison, 146,223; Stewart, 139,275; Cruise, Independent Labor, 9,939; Brockton, Socialist, 11,212; Haines, Prohibition, 2,348.

In the last majority election the total vote was: Harrison, Democrat, 156,754; Hancey, Republican, 128,413; Hoyt, Prohibition, 2,323; Collins, Socialist, 5,322.

The early returns were in favor of Stewart and at one time he was 2,000 ahead, but the later returns cut down his plurality steadily and the Republican leaders in private conversation admitted Stewart's defeat by about 6,000. In the first precinct of the Twenty-first ward, in which both Harrison and Stewart reside, the vote was: Harrison, 41; Stewart, 37. In the second, the vote was: Harrison, 52; Hancey, 44.

The chief issue in the campaign was the traction question, both candidates favoring ultimate municipal ownership of the street railways. Stewart advocated an immediate improvement of conditions, making the best terms possible. The Democrats elected Ernest Hummel for city treasurer by 21,700.

The new city council will consist of thirty-five Republicans, thirty-three Democrats and one Independent. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

St. Louis Picked Itself of the "Combine" Element.

St. Louis, April 7.—Election returns at 12:30 (complete) show that the Democrats were elected by a plurality of 10,000 in about one-half the registered vote. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

In St. Louis interest was centered in the council election which was headed by main battle being on the names of Republican and Independent candidates took the places of some Democrats. The Democrats elected six members of the council. The results in the city and ward are still in doubt. The other council contained thirty-nine Republicans, thirty Democrats and one Independent.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 8, 1903.

ROOSEVELT IN NORTH DAKOTA

President Visits the Ranch He Owned Years Ago.

GREAT CROWDS EVERYWHERE ALL IN READINESS FOR THE YELLOWSTONE PARK TRIP.

MANDAN, N. D., April 7.—President Roosevelt has been traveling through familiar country today, and has received hearty greetings wherever his train stopped. At many places he recognized old friends, and from his conversation it is evident that this has been one of the most enjoyable days of his trip. At Fargo, Jamestown and Bismarck he made stops of from half an hour to an hour and discussed the conditions of the Philippines, the tariff and the general prosperity which the country is enjoying. Stops also were made at Castleton, Tower, Valley City, and other points of interest.

At Bismarck the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

The most interesting ceremony of the day occurred at Medora, where the president, at the invitation of Captain F. O. Johnson, made a stop. He was here sixteen years ago, when he was sheriff of Billings county. Medora is a small town, but it has a great reputation for its round-up country had come into town and they gave him a truly western reception. Joe Ferris, who was the president's old foreman, and his brother, S. M. Ferris, who was the president's old partner, were present. The president rode with him to Medora.

At Medora the president was introduced to a number of Indian chiefs, some of whom had fought against Custer. He had traded with two of these Indians eighteen or twenty years ago, and he instantly recognized them. The chiefs presented an address and a pipe to the president, who in return gave them a few words of greeting and thanks for each man.

BOYCOTT NEW YORK PRODUCE

Saloon Men of the Metropolis Have a Grievance.

FARMERS WILL BE SQUEEZED RETALIATION FOR THE ADDI- TIONAL LIQUOR TAX.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Resolutions were passed today by District No. 1 of the central body of the Retail Liquor Dealers' association boycotting all products of the New York state farmers by the hotels, restaurants and saloons in the district bounded by Broadway, Fulton street and the East river after May 1. The district contains about 200 saloons, about half of which are in connection with restaurants.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

In bringing such a boycott the saloon-keepers have two objects in view: First, to even up in a measure a long-felt grievance of the saloon-keepers against the brewers, and second, to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel the necessity of co-operating with the saloon-keepers.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association practically has boycotted itself to buy hops from New York state farmers, which means millions of dollars to the latter, and the boycott, if possible, will be extended to all products.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

In bringing such a boycott the saloon-keepers have two objects in view: First, to even up in a measure a long-felt grievance of the saloon-keepers against the brewers, and second, to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel the necessity of co-operating with the saloon-keepers.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association practically has boycotted itself to buy hops from New York state farmers, which means millions of dollars to the latter, and the boycott, if possible, will be extended to all products.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

In bringing such a boycott the saloon-keepers have two objects in view: First, to even up in a measure a long-felt grievance of the saloon-keepers against the brewers, and second, to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel the necessity of co-operating with the saloon-keepers.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association practically has boycotted itself to buy hops from New York state farmers, which means millions of dollars to the latter, and the boycott, if possible, will be extended to all products.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

In bringing such a boycott the saloon-keepers have two objects in view: First, to even up in a measure a long-felt grievance of the saloon-keepers against the brewers, and second, to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel the necessity of co-operating with the saloon-keepers.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association practically has boycotted itself to buy hops from New York state farmers, which means millions of dollars to the latter, and the boycott, if possible, will be extended to all products.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

In bringing such a boycott the saloon-keepers have two objects in view: First, to even up in a measure a long-felt grievance of the saloon-keepers against the brewers, and second, to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel the necessity of co-operating with the saloon-keepers.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association practically has boycotted itself to buy hops from New York state farmers, which means millions of dollars to the latter, and the boycott, if possible, will be extended to all products.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

In bringing such a boycott the saloon-keepers have two objects in view: First, to even up in a measure a long-felt grievance of the saloon-keepers against the brewers, and second, to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel the necessity of co-operating with the saloon-keepers.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association practically has boycotted itself to buy hops from New York state farmers, which means millions of dollars to the latter, and the boycott, if possible, will be extended to all products.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

In bringing such a boycott the saloon-keepers have two objects in view: First, to even up in a measure a long-felt grievance of the saloon-keepers against the brewers, and second, to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel the necessity of co-operating with the saloon-keepers.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association practically has boycotted itself to buy hops from New York state farmers, which means millions of dollars to the latter, and the boycott, if possible, will be extended to all products.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

In bringing such a boycott the saloon-keepers have two objects in view: First, to even up in a measure a long-felt grievance of the saloon-keepers against the brewers, and second, to so affect the market and the pocketbook of the farmer that he will be made to feel the necessity of co-operating with the saloon-keepers.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association practically has boycotted itself to buy hops from New York state farmers, which means millions of dollars to the latter, and the boycott, if possible, will be extended to all products.

A second resolution was passed asking the New York City brewers to refuse all hops raised by New York state farmers. Market men grocers and produce men all over the city will be asked to co-operate. The proposed boycott is the outcome of the additional tax of $400 a year on saloons.

"Oh, Run Away and Play, Little Boy. This Money Is for the Healers."

PENNEL DIED DEEPLY IN DEBT

Probability That the Heirs Will Get Nothing Out of the Estate— Brother of the Dead Man Tried to Turn a Trick.

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 7.—Wallace Thayer, who was Arthur R. Pennell's friend and legal adviser in his lifetime, when seen today relative to a published statement quoting him that was attributed to him and made a story of misappropriation was true and that Pennell's brother, J. Frederick Pennell, had pleaded with him to destroy the trust papers, repudiated such a statement. He said: "Unless you do this, a brief statement which embodied, he said, all that he cared to state at the present time. Mr. Thayer said:

"I, Frederick Pennell, brother of Arthur R. Pennell, came to me last Friday and told me Arthur had left large debts to friends in the east. These debts, he said, were large enough to practically ruin me. He thought it best to let me know that as a reason why I should turn over to him the $25,000 in insurance which A. R. Pennell left in trust with me. He said: 'Unless you do this, there will be practically nothing left for me.'"

"J. P. Pennell demanded that I should pay these debts not over to the estate," said Mr. Thayer, "but to him personally. I suppose his counsel told him to do it. It was one of the greatest pieces of legal impudence that I have ever seen. I have not intended to violate the trust which had been reposed in me."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

"Will you turn the policies over to the Pennell estate?" was asked. "Not until the court of appeals orders me to do so," he replied.

"Not unless ordered."

WELLS MAKES LEWIS JUDGE

Lawyer Receives Appointment at Hands of Governor.

T. D. LEWIS was yesterday afternoon appointed a judge of the Third judicial district of the state by Governor H. M. Wells. That power was conferred upon the chief executive by the last legislature, which took cognizance of the congested condition of the calendar in the Salt Lake district and yielded to the popular demand for an extra judge. The third courts are about three years behind in the trial of cases.

Judge Lewis may assume his duties today. After he receives official notification of his appointment by the governor, he will take the oath of office, and he will be administered to him by any one of the three supreme or district court judges. When the oath is administered he will assume the duties and responsibilities of the office.

Law May Be Tested. Judge Lewis' term of office will expire on the first Monday in January, 1905. Provided, however, that in the meantime the supreme court does not take cognizance of the congested condition of the calendar in the Salt Lake district, he will be continued in office.

T. D. Lewis was born in this city Nov. 25, 1865. He is the son of James S. and Elizabeth W. Lewis, the latter being dead. After attending the public schools of Salt Lake City he entered the University of Utah in 1883, graduated with the degree of bachelor of science. Benjamin Howell, now deceased, graduated at the same time, and they were the first students of the law in Utah.

During the winter of 1887-8 he became deputy county recorder of Salt Lake county. In October, 1888, he entered the department of the University of Utah and spent the school year in special work in political science, history and language. The next year he entered the department of law and took the degree of bachelor of law in 1891.

Began Practice of Law. From that year until 1895 he practiced his profession in this city, taking a more or less active part in local politics. In 1891 and 1892 he was a member of the Republican county committee, when he was elected to the house of representatives of the first state legislature. He was chairman of the committee on elections, in which capacity he rendered marked service in performing his duties.

On the 15th of January, 1895, he passed his bar examination and was admitted to the bar. He has since been an active part in debates on the floor of the house.

In June, 1896, he married Miss Ellen E. Richards, daughter of Dr. J. H. Richards. The following year, in the fall, he received the appointment of deputy collector of internal revenue at the Salt Lake City office. He is now collector of Helena, Mont. He had that position during the Spanish-American war period. In the fall of 1899, when the state legislature was in session, he was elected to the position of deputy county recorder of Salt Lake county.

Two years ago Mr. Lewis was a candidate on the Republican ticket for district judge, but was defeated by a small majority. On the ticket with him were James M. Morris, now deceased, and Judge M. R. Nichols. On the Democratic ticket were Judges Hill and Stewart, who were elected and are now on the district bench, and Attorney J. Richards.

Judge Lewis took his appointment with his usual unobtrusive manner. When asked if he was surprised, or whether he intended to decline, he would be selected by the governor for the position, he answered that he had tried throughout the contest to keep his mind as free as possible. He added that the nervous strain of an election is not to be compared with that which a man feels when he is asked to accept an appointive position.

"When you are running for office you can often forget the result by feeling the pulse of the public by mingling with the people. But when it comes to an appointment, the one who makes it is always a sphinx."

Ran For Office Once. Two years ago Mr. Lewis was a candidate on the Republican ticket for district judge, but was defeated by a small majority. On the ticket with him were James M. Morris, now deceased, and Judge M. R. Nichols. On the Democratic ticket were Judges Hill and Stewart, who were elected and are now on the district bench, and Attorney J. Richards.

Judge Lewis took his appointment with his usual unobtrusive manner. When asked if he was surprised, or whether he intended to decline, he would be selected by the governor for the position, he answered that he had tried throughout the contest to keep his mind as free as possible. He added that the nervous strain of an election is not to be compared with that which a man feels when he is asked to accept an appointive position.

"When you are running for office you can often forget the result by feeling the pulse of the public by mingling with the people. But when it comes to an appointment, the one who makes it is always a sphinx."

Ran For Office Once. Two years ago Mr. Lewis was a candidate on the Republican ticket for district judge, but was defeated by a small majority. On the ticket with him were James M. Morris, now deceased, and Judge M. R. Nichols. On the Democratic ticket were Judges Hill and Stewart, who were elected and are now on the district bench, and Attorney J. Richards.

Judge Lewis took his appointment with his usual unobtrusive manner. When asked if he was surprised, or whether he intended to decline, he would be selected by the governor for the position, he answered that he had tried throughout the contest to keep his mind as free as possible. He added that the nervous strain of an election is not to be compared with that which a man feels when he is asked to accept an appointive position.

"When you are running for office you can often forget the result by feeling the pulse of the public by mingling with the people. But when it comes to an appointment, the one who makes it is always a sphinx."

Ran For Office Once. Two years ago Mr. Lewis was a candidate on the Republican ticket for district judge, but was defeated by a small majority. On the ticket with him were James M. Morris, now deceased, and Judge M. R. Nichols. On the Democratic ticket were Judges Hill and Stewart, who were elected and are now on the district bench, and Attorney J. Richards.

Judge Lewis took his appointment with his usual unobtrusive manner. When asked if he was surprised, or whether he intended to decline, he would be selected by the governor for the position, he answered that he had tried throughout the contest to keep his mind as free as possible. He added that the nervous strain of an election is not to be compared with that which a man feels when he is asked to accept an appointive position.

"When you are running for office you can often forget the result by feeling the pulse of the public by mingling with the people. But when it comes to an appointment, the one who makes it is always a sphinx."